

TiLearn Teacher Job Posting:

Temple Israel of the City of New York, a Reform synagogue in Manhattan is introducing innovative enhancements to religious education and is seeking bright, energetic, teaching superstars to lead our approach and success.

Within the Temple Israel Religious School we offer a blended classroom-learning and online-learning option called "TiLearn" which uses the ShalomLearning platform to bring 21st century learning to Jewish education for students and their families. Our curriculum uses a values-based approach to Jewish education.

The TiLearn teacher will use a set curriculum to lead classes that build Jewish identity, engage families, and build communities. Specific responsibilities will include:

- Leading in-person and live on-line video classes.
- Communicating with students and parents on a regular basis.
- Assisting students and families with accessing online materials.
- Staffing experiential learning components.
- Updating on-line resources, as appropriate.

With some combination of below, Competitive Candidates will:

- Be fun, enthusiastic, engaging (perhaps theatrical), and have the ability to make students laugh,
- Understand how to relate to students with different interests and guide/coach learners to enduring understandings.
- Be comfortable with computers and technology.
- Be passionate about Jewish youth education and the desire to try new methods of education.
- Be creative, with the ability to augment, customize and adjust existing lesson plans, as needed.
- Have a strong understanding of Jewish history, holidays, ritual, and values,
- Have some teaching experience in a Jewish environment and/or Jewish camp leading experience.
- Have fluent reading ability in prayer-book Hebrew.
- Familiarity with blended online learning and flipped classroom design.

Time commitment is 2 hours of in-person, and 1 hour and 30 minutes of on-line time per week. On-site classes are 4:15pm-5:45pm on Wednesdays and On-Line classes are Sundays at 9am-10:15am from your home computer.

High-level curriculum, specific customizable lesson plans and teacher training for this approach will be provided.
