Yom HaAtzma'ut 2020: Celebrating with Young Children and Families
April 20th, 2020
We Are Losing Much of What We Know and Love

How is this year different from all other years?

1. This year we will not have a parade
2. We will not create the same flags that we made last year.
3. We will not be together to travel to Israel on pretend trip.
4. We will not be together in person with our students to share the day together.
How will Yom HaAtzma'ut Will Be Different in Israel This Year?
What do Children Already Know about Israel?

We need to ground our learning about Israel in a context that makes sense for children.

Israel is far away and some children may be more familiar with it than others.

When was Israel discussed throughout the year?

- Holidays
  - Hannukah
  - Tu B'Shevat
  - Passover

- Learning about Torah Stories
  - Abraham
  - Moses

- Modern Day Connections and Curriculum
  - Did a child visit Israel this year or have family visit from Israel?
  - Was Israel Integrated at any point this year? What was taught last year?
“This study, part of an ongoing longitudinal project, shows how 5- and 6-year-old children are able to form a multilayered conception of Israel, viewing it as both a Jewish state and a place for those who live there, a dangerous place and a safe haven for Jews, and a place at once special and ordinary.”

-Sivan Zakai
This Year We Have the Ability to Focus on Environment as the Third Teacher
“I’ve found that kindergartners understand in profound ways the concept of home. They understand that it is possible to have more than one home, and it is possible to have shifting homes.”  Sivan Zakai
How do we build on what they know and relate it to this moment?

1. Self and Family
2. Hebrew Language
3. Art and Culture
4. Cooking
5. Nature and the Outdoors
6. Family Engagement
Self and Family: Same Same....but Different!

- Concept of Same or Different makes sense even to toddlers

- A Child’s identity and a child’s family are always a great place to ground a study of anything because it grounds the exploration in what is already known and understood.

- It can help connect child to child within a class as well with children understanding modern culture in Israel.

- Creates a foundation for understanding diversity both within and beyond their own community.

- When understanding Israel it is exciting to see that yes there are many differences but also so many similarities!
Self and Family: Same Same....but Different!

What would you need to make an Israeli breakfast in your home or classroom?

  - Colors
  - Numbers
  - Logos
  - What’s the same and what’s different?
- Why do you think different countries have different products?
- Could make a matching game or bingo with American and Israeli products?
Self and Family: Same Same....but Different!

- What do you notice?
  - Colors
  - Numbers
  - Symbols
  - Language
  - People

- Could you play shuk using shekels?
- You could do a similar comparison with stamps!
Self and Family- Hebrew Language

- What are your students’ Hebrew names?

Arts and Culture: Create your own Israel Poster!

“Poster Tales is a series of Israeli-made posters that originated with the founding of the Jewish state. Each year, Israeli artists submit their posters and designs in the hope that one will be featured as Israel's Independence Day image. Each poster – with its vivid imagery, symbols and themes – encapsulates a time and a people that shows the progression of Israel through the decades.” - iCenter
